

Eliminating Disparities in BREASTFEEDING AND INFANT MORTALITY

TAKING ACTION FOR EQUITY

Tuesday, December 11, 2018

7:30 am – 5:00 pm

Duke Energy Convention Center, Cincinnati, Ohio

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Camara Jones, MD, MPH, PhD, past president of the American Public Health Association and Senior Fellow at Morehouse School of Medicine's Satcher Health Leadership Institute, is a family physician and epidemiologist whose work focuses on naming, measuring and addressing the impacts of racism on health and well-being. She has broadened the national health debate to include both universal access to high-quality health care and attention to the social determinants of health and equity, including poverty and racism.

Breastfeeding positively impacts the life course of both maternal and child health including the reduction of infant mortality, yet inequities in breastfeeding initiation, duration, and exclusivity persist, particularly in the African American, Appalachian, and rural populations. This year's statewide conference, TAKING ACTION FOR EQUITY, a preconference to the Ohio Infant Mortality Summit, will provide plenary sessions and interactive workshops from successful leaders working across the continuum, from prenatal to postnatal care and beyond, to teach learners action tools that can be taken back to their community.
